Dark Depths II

A Bass Trombone Routine or Low Builder for Tenor Designed to work but not fully exhaust an advanced (high school- college) level player, or act as maintenance for a professional.

Alex Knutrud

Diving Slurs- Deep Opening: Keep this as warm as possible. Resonance is the most important. The air is constant- Don't think of changing it, as much as continuing it flowing.

B Switchbacks in and out of the valve- Try these as lyrical as possible, without pushing the air. Keep the flow natural and relaxed.

C Stairtrap Patterns- Practice these twice at least, once slurred, and once with legato tongue.

